++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry bright start. Showers spreading from north during the afternoon.

Today:
A dry morning with the best of bright and sunny spells to the south of Lough Neagh through to mid-morning. Gradually cloud increasing from the north during the afternoon, bringing a scattering of quite light showers, as northwest breezes develop. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers mixed between early evening brighter intervals and later clear spells. Northwest winds increasing fresh overnight, occasionally strong across northern coasts. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tuesday:
Sunshine and showers for Tuesday, with outbreaks most frequent and heavy during the morning across northern counties, where brisk northerly winds will make it feel significantly cooler than Monday. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
North to northeast flow continuing to bring showers, with the bulk of outbreaks focused across eastern areas. Southwest seeing the best of the shelter.
